Teaching, Learning, Evaluation

The teaching learning process at S.D. College is student centric to its core. Besides imparting knowledge, emphasis is given to personal and professional skill development. Classroom teaching is supplemented with activities which enable experiential and collaborative learning. Industrial visits, field trips and internships are organized to provide opportunities for first hand observation, analytical thinking, problem solving and hands on training. Group projects are another strategy for experiential learning. All undergraduate programmes prescribe a guided group project. Student groups work on problems or research questions from the discipline and submit reports as per the norms of research publication. They are subject to external evaluation. Everyday classroom transactions encompass student participation through seminar presentations, group discussions, debates and quizzes. Assignments ensure the effective use of library and e-resources. Besides, students play the lead role in planning and organizing academic and extracurricular activities like seminars, exhibitions, contests, campaigns and arts festivals. This enhances their skill in planning, time management, communication, leadership, teamwork, problem solving and public speaking. The curriculum ensures all-round personality development.

ICT Enabled Teaching

ICT based approach to teaching-learning is promoted in the institution. Information technology is used for communicating with students, engaging online classes and also for providing multisensory input during offline classes. E-mail and WhatsApp groups are used for communication with students. Facilities for online and ICT-based teaching are available in all departments. They include computers, laptops, LCD projectors, speakers, scanners and e-reference materials. Internet connectivity is ensured in all departments, seminar halls, offices and at the General Library. Live online classes are engaged through software like Google Meet and Microsoft Teams. Submission of assignments through LMS is also enabled. In offline classes, teachers use PowerPoint slides, audios and videos for enhancing the learning experience. Visual input is used in science for demonstration purposes. In the Arts classrooms, film adaptations of literary works and movies prescribed for study are screened. Students are given access to e-resources through INFLIBNET facility at the General Library. Reference materials include journals, e-books, audio books, videos, research theses etc. A computer lab with 60 desktop computers is also available on campus. It is utilized for practical sessions, training programmes and for preparation of students' project reports. Students are trained in using ICT for multiple purposes. The ICT infrastructure of the college was improved during the period. The gist of ICT infrastructure in the college is as follows:

Internal Assessment

Internal Assessment is given much importance in the institution. The conduct and evaluation of internal examinations is monitored by the College Level Monitoring Committee (CLMC), which ensures transparency through strict guidelines. 20 percent marks per course for UG programmes and 25 percent marks per course for PG programmes are awarded through internal evaluation. The criteria for evaluation are attendance, class room performance, internal tests and assignments/seminars. Students are briefed on the criteria for Internal Assessment immediately after their enrolment to a UG/PG programme. In a semester, two sets of internal tests are conducted from which the better score is taken. Students hence get an opportunity to improve their test scores based on teacher feedback. Question papers are prepared as per the stipulations of CLMC. Tests are administered and evaluated by the faculty members concerned. Apart from written tests, classroom discussions and quizzes are also conducted for assessing students. Assignments are evaluated based on content, timely submission, neatness and citation of external resources. Participation in extension activities (club activities/NCC etc.) is also a criterion for the award of IA marks in the fifth semester of UG. Mark lists are published and student grievances promptly addressed before final submission to the University.

Research Activities

Research activities at the institution were carried on in a full-fledged manner. Faculty and research scholars were engaged in individual and collaborative research projects.
